

Congrats to MPR on Met Council agreement

4-9-09

MPR, Met Council reach deal on light rail noise
by Laura Yuen, Minnesota Public Radio
April 8, 2009

EMBED | HELP

After three months of negotiations, the Metropolitan Council and Minnesota Public Radio have finally struck a deal on how to resolve MPR's concerns over noise from a proposed light-rail transit line.

A light rail train, moving through downtown Minneapolis. (MPR photo/Tom Weber)

Minnesota Public Radio, 4/8/09

Congratulations to Goff & Howard client Minnesota Public Radio, which reached an agreement with the Metropolitan Council on April 8 to help protect MPR from the noise and vibrations of the Central Corridor light rail line. The line will still travel down Cedar Street past MPR, but the agreement defines measures that will help protect the recording and broadcast studios from the impact. Goff & Howard is proud to have worked with MPR over the past several months to help ensure its concerns about the Central Corridor route were addressed.

Read some of the following news coverage for more information on the agreement.

Star Tribune

Pioneer Press

GOFF & HOWARD INC.
Public Relations/Public Affairs