

Goff & Howard Supports 2009 Flint Hills International Children's Festival

5-28-09

From May 26-29, more than 14,000 Minnesota students are visiting the Flint Hills International Children's Festival.

This weekend, thousands of children and their families will experience performing arts from around the world during the 2009 Flint Hills International Children's Festival. Thanks to the support of local businesses, officials, nonprofits, and others – including Flint Hills Resources – St. Paul's Ordway Center and surrounding Rice Park and Landmark Plaza will come to life with music and dance performances, art-making stations, a children's parade, and more. In addition, more than 14,000 Minnesota students are visiting the festival this week to enjoy artistic performances and participate in interactive arts activities.

Goff & Howard is proud to help Flint Hills Resources and the Ordway Center raise awareness of this great family-friendly event. For more information about the 2009 Flint Hills International Children's Festival, visit www.ordway.org/festival.
